Item 5.02 – Departure of Directors of Certain Officers; Election of Directors: Appointment of Certain Officers; Compensatory Arrangements of Certain Officers

On July 31, 2020, Ajay Vashee notified Dropbox of his decision to resign as Chief Financial Officer after more than eight years with the Company. Mr. Vashee's resignation as Chief Financial Officer will be effective on September 15, 2020, following which he will remain at the Company in an advisory role to help with the transition until October 15, 2020.

"Being part of Dropbox has been an amazing experience, and I'm so proud of everything we've accomplished together," said Mr. Vashee. "We've grown from a 100 employee private start-up when I first started, to a nearly 3,000 employee profitable public company. Thank you to Drew and the management team for the privilege of being part of the company's incredible journey."

The Company's Board of Directors (the "Board") appointed Timothy Regan, 43, the Company's Chief Accounting Officer, to succeed Mr. Vashee as Chief Financial Officer, effective September 15, 2020. Mr. Regan will continue to act as Dropbox's principal accounting officer and oversee the Company's accounting functions and personnel.

"It's always hard to see such beloved leaders like Ajay leave the company, but I'm grateful for the many years of commitment and dedication he's given to Dropbox." said Drew Houston, Dropbox's CEO and Chairman of the Board. "I'm also happy to welcome Tim as our new CFO. With his decades of experience and the impact he's already had at Dropbox as our CAO, I'm confident in his ability to lead our finance organization to the next stage of growth."

"Thank you to Drew and the management team for this opportunity," said Mr. Regan. "It was clear to me when I first joined Dropbox a few years ago that this was a special company with an even greater future in store. I'm excited to take on the role of CFO and continue the great work of the finance organization to build a sustainable, profitable business for the long-term."

Mr. Regan has served as Dropbox's Chief Accounting Officer since December 2016. From January 2011 to December 2016, he served as VP Finance Controller at Pandora Media, Inc ("Pandora"). He will also be eligible to participate in the Company's cash bonus plan, with an annual performance-based target of 65% of his base salary. In addition, Mr. Regan will be granted a one-time restricted stock award covering shares of the Company's Class A common stock with a value of $4,000,000. The restricted stock award will vest over four years beginning with 6.25% of the shares subject to the award vesting every three months (on the 15th day of the month) beginning on November 15, 2020, subject to Mr. Regan remaining in service and the terms of the Company's 2018 Equity Incentive Plan. The foregoing description is qualified in its entirety by reference to the Offer Letter, which will be filed with the Company's Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the quarter ending June 30, 2020.

<sup>(1)</sup> Capital expenditures include cash outflows related to the build-out of our new corporate headquarters in San Francisco, CA. Net cash provided by operating activities include tenant improvement allowances related to our new corporate headquarters, and represents cash received from our landlord to partially offset this build-out. These amounts are presented net in the table above.

<sup>(2)</sup> As part of our acquisition of HelloSign in 2019, we have employee holdback agreements with key HelloSign personnel consisting of $48.5 million in cash payments subject to on-going employee service. The related expenses are recognized within research and development expenses over the required service period of three years. The payments began in the first quarter of 2020, and will be paid evenly in quarterly installments over the remaining required service period.

About Non-GAAP Financial Measures

To provide investors and others with additional information regarding Dropbox's results, we have disclosed the following non-GAAP financial measures: including revenue growth and Total ARR growth excluding foreign exchange effect, which we refer to as on a constant currency basis, non-GAAP cost of revenue, non-GAAP gross profit, non-GAAP operating expenses (including research and development, sales and marketing and general and administrative), non-GAAP income from operations, non-GAAP net income, free cash flow ("FCF") and non-GAAP diluted net income per share. Dropbox has provided a reconciliation of each non-GAAP financial measure used in this earnings release to the most directly comparable GAAP financial measure. Non-GAAP cost of revenue, gross profit, operating expenses, income from operations, and net income differs from GAAP in that they exclude stock-based compensation expense, amortization of acquired intangible assets, and other acquisition-related expenses, which include third-party diligence costs and expenses related to key employee holdback agreements. Non-GAAP net income also excludes net gains and losses on equity investments, and includes the income tax effect of the aforementioned adjustments, including the tax effects of acquired intangible assets. FCF differs from GAAP net cash provided by operating activities in that it treats capital expenditures as a reduction to net cash provided by operating activities. Free cash flow margin is calculated as FCF divided by revenue. Non-GAAP diluted net income per share differs from GAAP diluted net loss per share in that the numerator utilizes the non-GAAP net income as described above, and the weighted average shares used in the computation include certain shares that are excluded from the GAAP diluted net loss per share calculation because their effect would have been anti-dilutive. For periods that we are in a GAAP net income position, the weighted average shares used in the computation are the same as the shares used in our non-GAAP diluted net income per share computation. In order to present revenue on a constant currency basis for the quarter ended June 30, 2020, Dropbox calculates constant currency revenue growth rates by applying the prior period weighted average exchange rates to current period results. Dropbox calculates constant currency Total ARR growth rates by applying the current period rate to prior period results. Dropbox presents constant currency information to provide a framework for assessing how our underlying business performed excluding the effect of foreign currency rate fluctuations.

Dropbox's management uses these non-GAAP financial measures to understand and compare operating results across accounting periods, for internal budgeting and forecasting purposes, for short and long-term operating plans, and to evaluate Dropbox's financial performance and the ability to generate cash from operations. Management believes these non-GAAP financial measures reflect Dropbox's ongoing business in a manner that allows for meaningful period-to-period comparisons and analysis of trends in Dropbox's business, as they exclude expenses that are not reflective of ongoing operating results. Management also believes that these non-GAAP financial measures provide useful supplemental information to investors and others in understanding and evaluating Dropbox's operating results and future prospects in the same manner as management and in comparing financial results across accounting periods and to those of peer companies.

We believe that the non-GAAP financial measures, non-GAAP cost of revenue, gross profit, operating expenses, income from operations, net income, and diluted net income per share are meaningful to investors because they help identify underlying trends in our business that could otherwise be masked by the effect of the expenses that we exclude.

We believe that FCF is an indicator of our liquidity over the long term, and provides useful information regarding cash provided by operating activities and cash used for investments in property and equipment required to maintain and grow our business. FCF is presented for supplemental informational purposes only and should not be considered a substitute for financial information presented in accordance with GAAP. FCF has limitations as an analytical tool, and it should not be considered in isolation or as a substitute for analysis of other GAAP financial measures, such as net cash provided by operating activities. Some of the limitations of FCF are that FCF does not reflect our future contractual commitments, excludes investments made to acquire assets under finance leases, includes capital expenditures related to our new corporate headquarters, and may be calculated differently by other companies in our industry, limiting its usefulness as a comparative measure.

The use of non-GAAP cost of revenue, gross profit, operating expenses, income from operations, net income, free cash flow, and diluted net income per share measures has certain limitations as they do not reflect all items of income, expense, and cash expenditures, as applicable, that affect Dropbox's operations. Dropbox compensates for these limitations by reconciling the non-GAAP financial measures to the most comparable GAAP financial measures. Additionally, we have provided supplemental disclosures in our reconciliation of net cash provided by operating activities to free cash flow to include capital expenditures related to our new corporate headquarters, net of tenant improvement allowances and key employee holdback payments related to the acquisition of HelloSign. These non-GAAP financial measures should be considered in addition to, not as a substitute for or in isolation from, measures prepared in accordance with GAAP. Further, these non-GAAP measures may differ from the

Thank you, Ajay

Today, we're sharing the news that after nearly a decade at the company, our CFO, Ajay Vashee, is leaving Dropbox.

It's always difficult to say goodbye to people who have been such a critical part of our culture, and Ajay is no different. He's seen the company through some of our biggest milestones, from our early funding rounds to our IPO in 2018. In Ajay's time here, he built a foundation of operational discipline, ensuring we continue to run as a strong public company, and led us to our first quarter of GAAP profitability earlier this year.

The strength of the finance organization Ajay leaves behind is a testament to his leadership. Inside Dropbox, he's known for the trust and mentorship he shows his team, and his authenticity and transparent communication style. He was the beloved executive sponsor for our LGBTQ employee resource group, Pridebox, and never hesitated to use his voice to make a positive impact. Ajay built the finance organization from the ground up, hiring our first leaders in strategic finance, IR, corporate development, and accounting.

We're excited to share that one of those hires, our current Chief Accounting Officer Tim Regan, will be our new CFO. In his nearly four years at Dropbox, Tim has demonstrated exceptional leadership, discipline, and the operational skill needed to run our finance organization. Tim has over two decades of experience in finance prior to Dropbox, from his role as Controller at Pandora, to senior positions at Dolby and Ernst & Young. We're confident Dropbox is set up for success in his capable hands.

Ajay will remain at the company through mid-October to ensure a smooth transition. After Dropbox, he plans to spend more time with his family and young children, and explore options to return to venture investing, where his early career started. Good luck Ajay, we will miss you and wish you all the best!
